Contract Wins

Porvair plc, the specialist filtration and environmental technology group, today announces that SELEE Corporation, its metal filtration division, has added Nanshan Aluminium to its list of top-tier Chinese customers. Nanshan has chosen to implement SELEE's patented stage filtration system for its flat rolled aluminium production. The selection of SELEE by Nanshan follows the start-up of two other SELEE systems in China and another two in North America. Total sales for these new contract wins will exceed $1m in fiscal year 2008 with prospects for further growth in 2009.

Commenting on the contract wins, Ben Stocks, Chief Executive of Porvair said:

"It's been a very busy and successful start to the year at SELEE, the global market leader in aluminium filtration. We are finding considerable interest from the Chinese aluminium industry where SELEE is seen as a partner in helping companies meet metal quality improvement targets. These excellent contract wins and successful installations have contributed to record sales in the month of February across the Group."
